Contents

Editors ................................. xii
Contributing Authors ............... xv
Acknowledgements .................. xxiii
Foreword .............................. xxv

1 Introduction .......................... 1
   Dimitrios Buhalis
      Introduction .................. 1
      Universal Approaches to Accessible Tourism 3
      Structure of the Book .......... 5
      Section 1: Policies and Strategies for Accessible Tourism 6
      Section 2: Networks and Partnerships 8
      Section 3: Accessible Tourism Value Chain 10
      Section 4: Destination Development 12
      Section 5: Accessible Tourism Experiences 13
      Moving Forward ................. 14

Section 1: Policies and Strategies for Accessible Tourism  17

2 European Policies for Accessible Tourism 19
   Ivor Ambrose
      Introduction .................. 19
      Objectives for Accessible Tourism Policies in Europe 21
      Coordination of Accessible Tourism Policies 24
      European Accessible Tourism Policies 25
      Future Policy Needs and Targets for Accessible Tourism Policies 28
      A Road Map for Accessible Tourism Policies in Europe 29
      Conclusions .................... 34

3 Accessible Tourism in Flanders: Policy Support and Incentives 36
   Pieter Ghijsels
      Introduction .................. 36
      Accessibility of Tourism Infrastructure 38
Tourism Disability Research 97
Conclusions 98
Appendix 7.1 Commonwealth Government Initiatives 109
Appendix 7.2: State and Local Government Initiatives 111
Appendix 7.3: Private Industry Key Initiatives 113

8 Accessible Tourism in New Zealand 114
   Sandra Rhodda
      New Zealand Tourism 114
      Accessible Tourism in New Zealand 115
      Accessible Tourism Businesses in New Zealand 118
      Why New Zealand Needs to Improve its Accessible Tourism Offer 120
      Actions to Develop Accessible Tourism in New Zealand 121
      Conclusions 122

Section 2: Networks and Partnerships 125

9 Universal Tourism Networks 127
   Mike Prescott
      Introduction 127
      Meeting the Challenge 128
      Accessibility Principles 129
      Network analysis 134
      Application to Accessible Tourism 137
      Future Trends 141
      Conclusion 142

10 Tourism Victoria, Australia – an Integrative Model of Inclusive Tourism for People with Disabilities 144
   Huong Le, Yuka Fujimoto, Ruth Rentschler and David Edwards
      Introduction 144
      An Overview of Stakeholder Theory 145
      Research Methods 146
      Victorian Policy Framework: Macro Level 148
      Victorian Accessible Tourism Plan 2007–2010: Meso Level 150
      Evidence from the Field: Micro Level 151
      Implications for Policy and Practice 153
      Conclusion 154

11 Accessible Tourism in Sweden: Experiences, Stakeholders, Marketing 157
   Lilian Müller
      The Development of Accessible Tourism in Sweden 157
Accessible Tourism in Sweden – Strengths and Weaknesses 158
Actors for Accessible Tourism in Sweden 159
Marketing of Accessible Tourism in Sweden – in Mainstream and Target-Group-Oriented Channels 160
Accessible Tourism Strategies 162
Experiences from the Municipality of Askersund 164
Conclusions: Accessible Tourism in Practice 166

12 The Third Sector Responses to Accessible/Disability Tourism 168
Philippa Hunter-Jones and Anthony Thornton
Introduction 168
Accessible/Disability Tourism 168
Tourism and the Charitable Sector 171
Research Methods 173
Findings 173
Conclusions and Agenda for Future Research 176

13 Accessible Dive Tourism 180
Caroline Walsh, Janet Haddock-Fraser and Mark P. Hampton
Introduction 180
Definition of Disability and Accessibility 181
History and Scope of the Disabled Dive market 182
Stakeholder Perspectives on Disabled Dive Tourism 185
Volunteer Dive Tourism and Disabled Divers 187
Conclusions 190

Section 3: The Accessible Tourism Value Chain 193

14 Tour Operating for the Less Mobile Traveller 195
Andrew Wright
Introduction 195
The Tour Operation 195
Elements of the Overseas Holiday Journey 197
The Resort 198
The Next Stage 200
The Way Forward 202
Conclusion 205

15 Air Travel for People with Disabilities 207
Simon Darcy and Ravi Ravinder
Introduction 207
The Low-Cost Carrier Model 207
A Note about Language and the Cultural Context of Disability 209
Contents ix

People with Disabilities, Seniors and the Accessible Tourism Market 210
Methodology 212
The Low-Cost Carrier Model (Southwest Airlines) 212
Conclusion 217

16 Accessible Public Transport: Vienna City Tourism 222
Roland Krpata
Introduction 222
The Viennese Model 222
Development of New Low Floor Vehicles 224
Re-design of Accessible Tramway and Bus Stops 225
The Lift Retrofitting Programme 227
Accessible Station Furniture 229
Visual Guiding System of the Vienna Lines Developed in 1969 230
Tactile Guiding System of the Vienna lines 233
POPTIS – A Navigation System for Blind and Visually Impaired Users 234
Real Time Information Accessible Even for Blind and Visually Impaired Users 236
Qando – A Web-Based Route-Planner 237
MofA or mobility4all 238
Quo Vadis Feasibility Study 238
Conclusions: Achievements and Further Developments 239

17 Accessible Hotels: Design Essentials 241
Katerina Papamichail
Introduction 241
Accessible Hotels: Taking Away the Myths 243
Checklist 245
Conclusions 261

Section 4: Destination Development 263

18 Wheelchair Travel Guides 265
Bruce Cameron and Simon Darcy
Introduction 265
What is a Travel Guide? 265
Some Issues for Travel Guides 266
Iconography 267
Rating Systems 270
The Australian Case 270
Self Assessment versus Provision of Information 271
The United Kingdom Case 273
Europe for All 276
Mapping 276
A Strategic Approach 278
Conclusions 282

19 Accessing Heritage Tourism Services 285
Shane Pegg and Norma Stumbo
Introduction 285
Rethinking Service and Product offerings in the Heritage Tourism Sector 286
Dealing Effectively with a Diverse Range of Clients 288
Moving Towards More Inclusive Heritage Tourism Services 291
Conclusion 293

20 VisitOSLO, Norway: Supporting Accessible Tourism Content within Destination Tourism Marketing 297
Bodil Sandøy Tveitan
Introduction 297
VisitOSLO’s Accessible Tourism Strategies 398
The OSSATE Project: Planning and Implementation and Key Ingredients for Success 399
New Ways of Presenting Tourism Information Data 303
Strategic Issues and Problems in Data Integration 305
Conclusions and Key Success Factors 307

21 Accessible Tourism in Spain: Arona and Madrid 310
Jesús Hernández Galán
Introduction 310
Arona: a Tourist Destination based around the Sun and the Sea 310
Madrid: a Cultural Tourism Destination 315
Conclusions: Learning from Madrid and Arona 319

22 Visit Britain: Leading the World to Britain 322
Andrew Daines and Chris Veitch
Introduction 322
Increased Provision of Tourism Product Information in Relation to Access 323
Access Statements 326
National Accessible Scheme 327
Product Development 329
Bosworth Battlefield, near Market Bosworth, Leicestershire 329
The Hytte, Bingfield, Northumberland 332
Conclusions 334
Section 5: Accessible Tourism Experiences

23 Australia: the Alpine Accessible Tourism Project and Disabled Winter Sport
Tracey J. Dickson and Simon Darcy
- Introduction
- Project Background
- Outdoor Activity Focus
- Ageing Population
- Informing the AAT Project
- Research Design
- Case Study Background
- Project Details
- Discussion
- Project Recommendations – Success by Design
- Conclusion

24 Special Needs Customer Care Training for Tourism
Susana Navarro García-Caro, Arno de Waal and Dimitrios Buhalis
- Introduction
- Why Train the Tourism Sector on Accessible Tourism and Leisure?
- Accessibility and its Importance in Tourism Training
- Difficulties in the Tourism Sector in Spain
- Towards an Educational Training System Focused on Total Quality
- Trainers for Accessible Tourism?
- Training Methodologies, Content and Use of New Technologies
- Conclusions

25 Conclusions: Best Accessible Tourism Practice
Ivor Ambrose, Simon Darcy and Dimitrios Buhalis
- The Language of Accessible Tourism
- Social Responsibility or Business Interest – Why Not Both?
- Delivering Personalized, Accessible Experiences